UNIVERSITY PRESENTS a way for students to meet other students under a variety of conditions. The program is beginning this semester and will be computerized to give students a chance to go to a wider variety of the parties. Representatives will be at the Wilkinson Center reception area to sign up interested students.

and other information will be available at the Academy table in the Reception Center, Wilkinson Center. Registration will begin today and continue through Monday.

Classes Small According to Terrell Hunt, chairman of the program, classes hopefully will be small in size and discussion oriented. The courses selected were determined from a poll of the student body taken by the Cougar Club.

"The Academy will be loosely modeled after 'Experimental College' programs which have spread across the country," explained Hunt.

Nixon Asks 4 Billion For Pollution Funds

(AP)—In his fifth major environmental action since the start of the year, President Nixon asked Congress Tuesday to give his administration new power, jurisdiction and money to improve the quality of life in the United States.

In a special message, Nixon proposed a $4 billion program for municipal waste treatment to improve water quality, backed by stricter clean-up standards and enforcement powers.

To fight air pollution, Nixon proposed authority for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to regulate the composition of vehicle fuels, and ordered a 5-year research program to develop a pollution-free automobile.

Nixon sought nationwide federal enforcement powers against both air and water pollution, to be armed with the threat of court-imposed fines of $10,000 a day against violators.

He singled out junk automobiles as one of the major solid waste problems and directed his new Environmental Quality Council to find ways of promoting their prompt scrapping, so they would not clutter up the landscape.

Nixon said the price of an automobile "should include not only the cost of producing it, but also the cost of disposing of it."

Nixon also proposed a movement to carve out new park and recreation lands.

One approach would be to step up federal and state purchases of land for parks and recreation through full use of the Land and Water Conservation Fund.

The other half of his plan was to see whether some of the land already owned by the federal government—one-third of all the land in the nation—could be adapted or converted to park use, or sold to raise money to create new parks.

Mrs. Joan Fisher enjoys being a girl. The reigning Mrs. America, a Utah resident and BYU graduate, speaks at noon today in the Varsity Theater as a part of Women's Week.

Mrs. Fisher got her degree in elementary education from BYU in 1961. She and her husband, M. Byron Fisher, a member of the Utah state legislature, have three children. She is the youngest Mrs. America in 19 years.

Housing Board Helps Tenants, Landlords who has landlord is an opportunity to them out through a adjustment board, a Carl D. Jones, of BYU housing, said that the BYU housing Board meets need arises to hear problems.

ed consists of two represent the Provo Association, one appointed by the Student body and on, co-ordinator of housing, who acts as the board.

ed, a graduate student, is the student to the board, E.J. Lawson Hamblin landlords. Items handled by the Office get the landlord together so that they don't take advantage of one another," Jones said.

The problems which crop up most often are damage to furniture, walls, or carpeting and deposits and rent claims. Students often feel damages are over-valued, while the landlord claims he is entitled to that amount.

When students move out of apartments, problems occur as landlords insist an apartment has not been cleaned enough to warrant a deposit refund, and students insist they have cleaned it sufficiently and are entitled to the refund.

Promised repairs and cleaning by landlords which aren't done are frequent complaints.

Jones said landlord-student meetings usually settle disagreements. If such a meeting does not solve the situation, the adjustment board is called.

All Provo landlords have agreed to abide by the decision of the board.

Parked Car Suffers Trunk Fire

By ROGER AYLWORTH
Universe Staff Writer
Bryant Summerhays, a sophomore from Salt Lake City, had a rather unpleasant surprise when he returned to his car in the Wilkinson Center parking lot Monday evening.

A fire was noticed in Summerhays' car by Roger Harris about 7 p.m. Monday. Harris had parked his car by Summerhays' and smelled smoke.

Harris thought it was his own brakes that had produced the odor until he saw smoke in the passenger compartment, and seeing out of the trunk of the car parked next to his.

Harris notified Security and Officer Kenneth Hutchins answered the call. Hutchins, believing the fire to be in the passenger area, smashed the right front window in an effort to get to the fire.

It was discovered that the fire was not in the passenger section and the smoke that filled this part of the car was only seepage from the real fire, smoldering in the trunk.

The Provo fire department was summoned and firemen forced the trunk open. For a time there was some concern that unless the trunk could be opened and the fire extinguished, it might spread to the gas tank and explode.

When the trunk lid opened, the fire was found to be smoldering in what appeared to be a quilt.

Fire Lt. Gary Nuttle theorized that the fire stemmed from a short in the wiring to the left tail light.

SECURITY AND PROVO firemen were curious Monday night as to what caused the fire in the trunk of sophomore Bryant Summerhays' car. The answer—faulty wiring, of course.

Retrospect: Brigham Young At Colorado State

By PAUL JAMES
KSL Sports Director

We have hardly talked basketball at all since coming to Laramie. Our thoughts have been constantly on the wild and ugly scene of Thursday evening. I sat in my motel room all day today trying to put together a few of the things that I have been concerned with.

First of all, I have been surprised at the way the news services and news media have played down and tried to minimize the severity of the events on Thursday. One report I read said that it was "several blacks" who walked on the floor at half-time interrupting the marching girls. Well I have film to prove that it was closer to a hundred who were on the floor.

Another report said casually that "a lighted piece of paper or smoke bomb was thrown on the floor." How can anyone dismiss so lightly what was in fact a flaming bottle of gasoline (a Molotov cocktail if you will.) That bottle landed five feet in front of me. There was no mistaking it. I wonder how the press would have played it down if that bottle had broken or exploded showering people with glass and flaming gasoline.

Today in the LARAMIE BOOMERANG (the daily newspaper) I read an article that said the student leaders at Colorado State have asked Governor Love of Colorado to investigate the violent demonstrations at the BYU-CSU game. But, not investigate in the way you might think! (Catch this!) Ron Heard a spokesman for the student gov't is asking Governor Love to investigate the police intervention into the demonstration. He blamed all of the violence and disruption on the Fort Collins police who were ordered onto the floor when university officials had apparently promised that they would not call in the police if the demonstration were peaceful. Now it is true that the firebomb and the piece of angle iron falling a photographer were thrown after the police arrived. But it is important to remember that the demonstrators had agreed not to take the floor at half-time. It is important to remember that they were asked to leave the floor, which they refused to do. They were then warned to leave the floor or face arrest. Somewhere along the line these demonstrators and protestors have gotten the idea that they are constituted, or the laws that every other citizen must abide by.

Where does it say in the Constitution, or the laws of the land, or state, or city, or anywhere else, that any group of any color or any creed has the right to walk out on the floor where people have paid to see an athletic contest, or walk onto a stage where people have paid to see a movie, and insult the patrons with obscene and vulgar language, showing disrespect to the flag and National Anthem by turning their backs and saluting with obscene hand gestures?

Where does it say that anyone has the right to interrupt a group of marching girls and confront them with vulgar gestures and abusive language? One black went so far as to undo his trousers and expose himself to the girls and the entire crowd.

Where does it say that any group has the right to throw raw eggs at a basketball player or any other performer? Or stand in a line under the basket as he tries to warm up and interfere with his performance?

Where does it say that anyone has the right to smuggle angle iron, pieces of steel pipe and firebombs into a public gathering in anticipation of using them?

If you were the president of a university, would you allow such a group on your floor regardless of their color, regardless of what they were protesting? Would you refrain from calling in the police to remove them as was suggested by the BSA? All of these things happened! All of these things happened BEFORE the police were called onto the floor! Police arrived just as sporadic fights began to occur throughout the auditorium; fans were embarrassed, ashamed, enraged at what they saw. Police arrived after the abusive group refused to leave the floor. Indeed, did the police cause the disruption, disorder and violence? In all honesty would you have called the police, and would it have been a great deal sooner?

I am not denying blacks or any other group the right to dissent, protest or demonstrate but the public has rights also!

The public has the right to be protected from indecent exposure, to be protected from foul and abusive language and vulgar gestures and to be protected from people with concealed weapons.

People attending that game did not pay money to be insulted and harassed. Some parents with their youngsters at their side fled that demonstration in fear of their very lives.

This demonstration was forced on the school by the BSA with the threat that if you don't let us demonstrate, you will have to pay the consequences in violence.

Where does it say that one man or one group has the right to dictate policy to a state university or a community or indeed to the nation with a threat of violence if the university does not respond to their dictates?

That demonstration Thursday was far more than a protest against BYU or the Mormon Church. It was an insult to justice, an insult to every law abiding citizen and every principle of law and order that this country stands for.

There is one thing you should know about the Black Student Alliance which organized this demonstration. The BSA group which violently disrupted the BYU-CSU basketball game was protesting the "Racist policies" of the Mormon Church specifically, because the Church does not allow a black to hold the Priesthood.

Herein lies a most interesting bit of irony!

Craig Symes, a Colorado State student, recently attended a BSA meeting with the idea of joining them in their protest against the Church. He was curiously asked to leave the meeting. It seems that the Black Student Alliance does not allow whites to join their organization or indeed even attend their meetings. This information was taken from an editorial by Craig Symes in the Colorado State Student newspaper, which left him somewhat baffled at their reasoning.

It seems to me that in this country of ours that we MUST maintain our right to protest and to dissent and to demonstrate. It is the very premise on which this country was founded. But, we must also abide by the laws of the land, respecting the rights of ALL OF OUR CITIZENS, not just the rights of the protestors.

I wish that every American, black, white, yellow or red, would have had the opportunity to witness that vulgar and frightening display on Thursday. It would have forced you to sit down and do some long and hard thinking about this country and our future.

DEMONSTRATION

Editor:

Recent graduate of BYU, I have been concerned by news reports that indicate that a vast number of colleges and college students are trying to segregate and destroy BYU and its athletic program. The home games that I witnessed at BYU were in a different environment than out-of-town games. There were no riots or demonstrations.

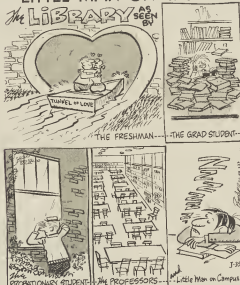

Thus night I beheld a sight I won't forget soon. I just returned from the CSUBU basketball game. There, indeed, were demonstrations, a fire bomb, and near riot conditions at times on the playing floor. The violence of the evening will fade in my memory with time. However, some events will not.

Near the end of the half-time performance, demonstrators started walking across the floor. They tried to disrupt the performers, but the girls carried on. As the girls finished, the crowd wildly applauded their superb performance. The applause seemed endless.

As the performers left, the demonstrators formed a large group under BYU's basket, and the cheers died down. They were replaced by boos—loud, intense, lasting boos. The students were booing every bit as loudly as the General Admission areas. The majority was not silent! They were very vocal. The demonstrators were shown to be a

Mrs. Payne Speaks On Women

Experiences with 12 children ranging from the engaged age to the crawling age (twins) punctuated the talk yesterday of Mrs. Jaymann Payne, a former Mrs. Utah.

"The only qualification I have for this assignment is my family," the Women's Week speaker explained. "It doesn't take very much talent to hatch 12 children. The talent is in feeding them appetizing and nourishing spiritual food."

"I Enjoy Being a Girl" is the theme of the week, and Mrs. Payne emphasized that although she has "made all the mistakes possible in raising children, I still enjoy being a girl."

Women's curiosity makes girlhood enjoyable, she claimed. The present situation of women comes because Eve was curious and "wasn't content with the arrangement of the fruit in the garden." Yet, although she condoned the curiosity of Eve, she cautions women not to risk "being who we are for the traditions of the world."

She told of her daughter Nancy who watched her apply her face wrinkle "goop" and then said, "It doesn't help much does it, Mommy?" "How many of us are content with our figures and faces?" laughed Mrs. Payne, then added, "Some women are never content to be content. We call them naps."

"You can't nag men into the celestial kingdom," she cautioned "But you can entice them to take you there."

"The important thing is never to be content with our imperfections," she said she has added, and quoting a friend, she declared, "Perfection is an attitude from her experiences in the Mrs. America contest, where she placed third.

Constantly stressing that "What happens inside of you is more important," she used examples from her experiences in the Mrs. America contest, where she placed third.

She claims to have learned a lesson in the importance of inner beauty when she left her banner at home. "They bawled me out and thought I was a disgrace to my state." Hastily, she made her own with lead pencil that smeared all over her suit just as she was ready to meet the press.

"You are the most beautiful women in the world," she told her audience of BYU coeds, and then proceeded to define inner beauty. "Beauty is a cool hand on a hot forehead. Beauty is concern for others. Beauty is kindness. Beauty is being in tune with the spirit."

Motherhood, she explained, is one of the reasons she is "glad to be a girl."

"You'll look into your baby's face and the whole wonder of the universe... a testimony of God will be in your baby's face."

Love is the major lesson she has learned from her children. In a fit of temper, her small daughter told her, "You better love me, because you're in real trouble if you don't." "And we are in trouble if we don't," she added.

Mrs. Payne concluded that she was glad to be a girl, "because girls can become queens who love the gospel of Jesus Christ."

Noted Doctor Speaks On The Need For Artificial Organs

By DALE VAN ATTA

"It is theoretically possible to maintain the human head alone,

PROVO FLORAL

"Where the Flowers Grow"

with the rest of the body replaced by artificial organs."

Introduced by Ralph Bradley as the father of the artificial kidney, recipient of more than 20 awards, holder of four degrees from prominent universities and author of more than 300 publications, Dr. Willem V. Kolff made this all-inclusive statement in his speech on "Artificial Organs in the 70's."

At the BYU Alpha Epsilon Delta Club Meeting, where the speech was given, Dr. Kolff began his talk with statistics on renal (kidney) diseases and mortality rates, demonstrating the need for an artificial kidney.

"Forty thousand deaths result every year from renal diseases in the United States. At this moment, it costs the average American $10,000 to receive a kidney transplant, and that's not counting the $3,000-$20,000 cost a year to keep up the treatment for it," said Dr. Kolff.

Up until this time, kidney transplants were the only hope of the thousands afflicted. Though there was a 60 per cent chance of living with such a kidney, there weren't enough donor kidneys of the right type for the afflicted individuals, thus resulting in their deaths. He has had several patients himself who are still living after five years from the kidney transplanting operation.

Life and death committees were created to decide who would receive kidney transplantation on the basis of age and standing as a person in the community. Dr. Kolff said he believed such action to be "unethical" and devised a less expensive way to keep a person suffering from a renal disease alive.

Using a washing machine as a basin, he designed a dialysis machine which separated the urea from the blood, a function normally carried out by the kidney.

For $362, twenty-two patients now use such machines three times a week in their own home.

Since moving to Salt Lake, Dr. Kolff has produced a few more from the nose cones of airplanes.

This and other developments fulfill predictions Dr. Kolff made in 1964 centering around the possibility of an artificial kidney.

Going beyond even his expectations, though, is the recent invention of the nylon human cell. Not only does the cell carry out the process of oxygenation, but it can be injected into the human system with enzymes that can produce some interesting new enzyme action, according to Dr. Kolff.

"The artificial heart will be a definite outcome of research going on at this moment," reported Dr. Kolff. The necessity for an artificial heart, rather than the recent successful transplants, comes from number of hearts available.

"There are 500,000 killed on the road in the U.S. every year. There are 500,000 transplants needed in the U.S. year. Added to the fact that transplant heart must be of blood type and size of the original heart, this means that the never be enough hearts to 99 per cent of the cardiac dead."

"Much of the problem of solved with better methods in Belfast, Ireland is an effective portable reviving system which has many deaths. There are States to have such equipment, 300,000 more would be saved from death. Dr. Kolff. Thus, the a

No Changes In Ticket Policy For Remaining Home Contests

For the benefit of the students new to BYU this semester, the following explanation of ticket distribution for basketball games may be helpful.

Passes are given out in the Fieldhouse beginning at 6 a.m. the day of the game, for example, tomorrow morning. A student may pick up two passes with two valid activity cards.

All passes not picked up between 6 a.m. and 7 a.m. in the Fieldhouse will be available at the cloak room of the Wilkinson Center between 8 a.m. and noon.

The passes can then be traded for tickets at the West Annex to the Fieldhouse between 5:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. All tickets not claimed by 7:30 p.m. are given out without passes.

Fresh basketball games begin at 5:50 p.m. and varsity games at 8 p.m. The five remaining home games are with ASU, Arizona, Wyoming, Colorado State and Utah State.

Feb. 26 the Cougars are at UTEP and they travel to New Mexico for a game on Feb. 28.

WAC Meet Finished

Western Athletic Conference athletic directors and faculty representatives conclude three days of winter meeting today in Phoenix.

Director Floyd Millet and Dean Milton Hartvagnsen are the BYU men at the meeting, which is not a special racial session but rather a regularly scheduled event.

Eligibility requirements were expected to be discussed with some attention focused on the demonstration problem which has plagued the WAC this year.

There are false rumors circulating that BYU intends to withdraw, or that they will be removed by the other members. However, as Commissioner Hattock explained yesterday, the Conference Council can only make recommendations to the President's Council which will not meet until June.

Hockey Discount

The Salt Lake Golden Eagles have announced a student discount to all BYU students for the remaining home games. Ten minutes prior to game time all available reserved seats will be sold to BYU students at half price upon presentation of an activity card.

Salt Lake hosts San Diego tonight in the Salt Palace.

Cocic will probably not see any more action this season because of a disease called tendonitis that has been developing through constant use of hard wood floors. Resting should prevent him from having to have surgery later on and eventually cure the ailment.

Coach Leshman has stated that this shouldn't hamper his future work in basketball.

In reference to the team's activity thus far in the season, Coach Leshman is particularly proud of Brandt, who has come right along to average 17.5 points a game. He cited Brandt for his good shooting, his hustling at all times on the court, and his overall outstanding basketball performance.

Leshman, who had praise for all his team, especially pointed out three other outstanding players: Cocic, Salkalshi, and Porter.

"It was obvious that their experience of playing together for 27 games thus far paid off for them when the game came down to the wire during the last two minutes. Overall, the kittens played well, although their defense didn't satisfy me."

HOW MUCH READING WILL YOU DO THIS QUARTER?

Reading Dynamics can also help you learn

- better study methods
- methods of accumulating and compiling the information you study at this faster rate
- ways to approach different kinds of reading to get the most out of it
- how to analyze material critically

IF YOU POSSESSED THESE STUDY SKILLS —
WHAT WOULD IT MEAN TO YOUR EDUCATION?
HOW MUCH TIME WOULD YOU SAVE?

COME TO A FREE READING DYNAMICS DEMONSTRATION

WEDNESDAY FEB. 11
8 p.m.
SATURDAY FEB. 14
10 a.m.
Last Demonstration

- You will see a Reading Dynamics graduate read at amazing speeds from a book he has never seen before and then tell in detail what he has read.
- You will see a documented film that includes interviews with University professors who have taken the course.
- You will learn how we can help you to faster reading, with improved comprehension and greater recall.

Each demonstration lasts 1 hour and 15 minutes

Money Back Guarantee

We guarantee to increase the reading efficiency of each student AT LEAST 3 times. We will refund entire tuition to any student who, after completing minimum class and study requirements, does not at least triple his reading efficiency as measured by beginning and ending tests. Reading efficiency combines rates AND comprehension, not speed alone.

HOW MANY BOOKS WILL YOU READ BY THE END OF THE YEAR?

- Stop and list all of the books and the total number of pages you will be required to read
- Add in the supplemental reading you might do to increase your understanding of the subjects being taught
- Then include reading you would like to do for enjoyment and for special interest
- Don't forget the newspaper and magazine

HOW LONG IS IT GOING TO TAKE YOU TO READ AND ASSIMILATE THAT MUCH MATERIAL?

HOW WELL WILL YOU REMEMBER THE INFORMATION A FEW DAYS OR WEEKS LATER?

ARE YOU PRESSED FOR TIME AS MOST OF US ARE?

YOU CAN LEARN TO DO ALL THE READING YOU COMPILED ABOVE FROM 3 TO 8 TIMES FASTER THAN YOU PRESENTLY READ AND WITH BETTER COMPREHENSION

YOU CAN, AT THE SAME TIME, DEVELOP A METHOD OF RECALLING THE INFORMATION MONTHS AND YEARS LATER, THEREBY MAKING YOUR STUDY MORE EFFECTIVE AND MEANINGFUL

WOULD IT BE WORTH AN EIGHT WEEK COURSE THAT YOU CAN DO ALONG WITH YOUR SCHOOL WORK TO PREPARE FOR A LIFETIME OF STUDY?
